I'm a motivated and talented project manager with 3 years of experience. My technical background and education have led to my rapid development in this profession. I'm very interested in communicating and interacting with the customer and various teams such as the technical team and the design team, and I'm always looking for experience from these teams. I'm constantly updating my knowledge by studying and learning. I'm also sharing my experiences and thoughts on my personal website. I love teaching and learning. I'm completely aware of the software development and release cycle and have delivered several applications to the users under my supervision.
